

Yinrih Cities and Houses

I need to think about how yinrih build their buildings and how they arrange those buildings into cities, especially pre-space age. As arboreal animals, I've assumed that they'd prefer to be off the ground where possible. Perhaps they construct their homes on stilts or pylons and use the space underneath for storage. Yih has 12% lower gravity than Earth, so that may make it more feasible.

As for cities, yinrih aren't built for endurance, so unless they domesticate some sort of draft animal I don't see sprawl becoming a problem. They may build up rather than out.
