

The Spring Feast

Unlike Earth holy days to which the spring feast is often compared like Easter and Passover, which are reckoned according to the northern hemisphere spring equinox, the Bright Way's spring feast is celebrated during local spring, meaning while the northern hemisphere has their winter feast, the southern hemisphere has their spring feast, and vice versa. Different planets celebrate the feasts according to their own orbits.

Like the other seasonal feasts, the spring feast is preceded by a week of fasting. Fasting in the Bright Way consists of abstaining from solid foods. The fermented juice of steadtree fruit is a traditional drink consumed during fasts.

The unique feature of the spring feast is the presentation of new litters, where childermoots who have had their litter over the past year present their pups to the hearthkeeper for blessing.
